VOLUME XL.-No. 19.

YE OLDEN VALENTINE.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY. T. C. HARBAUGH. I roll my chair up to the blaze

That fills my chamber with its glow, And sit and dream of other days A half forgotten long ago. And in my lap, unfolded, lies
A youthful treasure half divine, As bright as were the sender's eyes, For it is her old valentine.

How quaint the words which here appear Across the page she smiled upon!
I listen, for I seem to hear
The laugh which told her labor done. A queer conceit? Perhaps to you Came long ago the self same line: "The rose is red, the violet's blue," Glows on my sweetheart's valentine

Why tell me that the rose was red? So were her cheeks 'neath winter skies; The violet blushing in its bed Could not out blue her radiant eyes. Across the snow from rustic Miss Around whose name Love's tendrils twine, Sir Cupid carried with a kiss This quaint, perfumed old valentine

The rose is just as red today
As when she penned her couplet true;
Tho' fades the hue of eyes away, The violet remains as blue. The years behind us only prove, Despite their shadow and their shine That many a maiden's hopes and love Went with ye olden valentine.

My heart today beats fast. I know. My pulses rise, the vistas seem To deepen in the ruddy glow And sanctify this Winter dream; And from the past two lovelit eyes Look back with light almost divine, While in my lap half timid lies My olden sweetheart's valentine

May heaven smile upon its page ! I love it for its faded hue; Her valentine grows dear with age, Her rose was red, her love was true; And this is why today I sit And read aloud each little line. Across ye olden valentine.

"JOLLYING" A NEWSPAPER

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER. BY BOB WATT.

I have heard many stories of smart tricks by advance agents, who were anxious to forward the in-terests of the stars or companies they represented, but have never had the pleasure of seeing this one in print. John Brash was a typical advance agent, a man always on the alert for some good scheme to push the claims of his employers before the public. At night he would retire to his room, when other agents were s'anding in front of a bar and working their jaws on a number of big words for the amusement of the loungers in that place, and would put on his thinking cap and emerge in the morning with some new and brilliant advertising scheme that would set the whole town talking. Not a week but John would spring some new one on the people, not only setting the public wild, but also making the other agents tear their hair with envy. He was a very valuable man, and was never out of an engagement long. In his early life he had been em ployed on a newspaper and thoroughly understood

The season I met him he was taking care of the interests of a company that had started out with an "angel," but who had soon been brought back to a realization of earthly things when his little all was exhausted and the stars and company were clamot ing for the salary, which did not come. The backe was true to his name, for he at once backed out and went home to gather up some more money to invest in a business he kne v nothing about. The company was thrown on its own resources, without printing or money, and were vainly struggling to hold together until they got within walking distance

John was given full control, and told he could work any scheme that would bring in a dollar, and right royally did he get to work. Every day we had ew evidence of his ability as a hustler and a chemer. Fictitious benefits were arranged; newspapers were worked as I have never seen them worked since; he secured notables to attend our performances, and in every way possible planned to keep us moving. It was no use, however, for fate was against us, and our courage dwindled as our cash ran low. When we reached the town of Coalport the treasury was as empty as the prom-ises of a "Summer giri," and we did not have one sheet of paper left and no dates ahead. We were all discouraged but John, he declaring that he would pull us out of the hole. He borrowed enough money to take a short trip and reached a town that was hungry for a show. It was a slowgoing place but the factories were all running on full time, and if we could only place the merits of our show before the people we were sure of a good house.

How to perform that important piece of work we left to John, and how he was going to do it without a cent of money we could not tell. The printer re-fused to send us a sheet of paper until all back bills were settled, and that was as far beyond us as our Mecca, New York, was. Our only hope was the news-paper and how John was going to work that, simply and solely on nerve, was beyond our comprehension. When John arrived in town the first place he went was the newspaper office. He found the editor was fully acquainted with the situation we were in and that there would be no use in working any bluffs on him. Then John came right down to business and asked the editor to favor us with the influence of his paper and thus give us a chance to get on our feet. It was a masterstroke, as John expressed it, and brought the enemy into camp at

The editor said he would be glad to help us, but was in a tight place himself. The only help he had, a man who set the type, and was the one mule power for the pony cylinder press he used, had gone off on a drunk, and the editor was therefore placed in such a position that he could not get out his As our show was to appear on Thursday, and this was Tuesday, there was no time to waste.

"I will help you," said John. 'I am a practical newspaper man, and understand the whole busi-

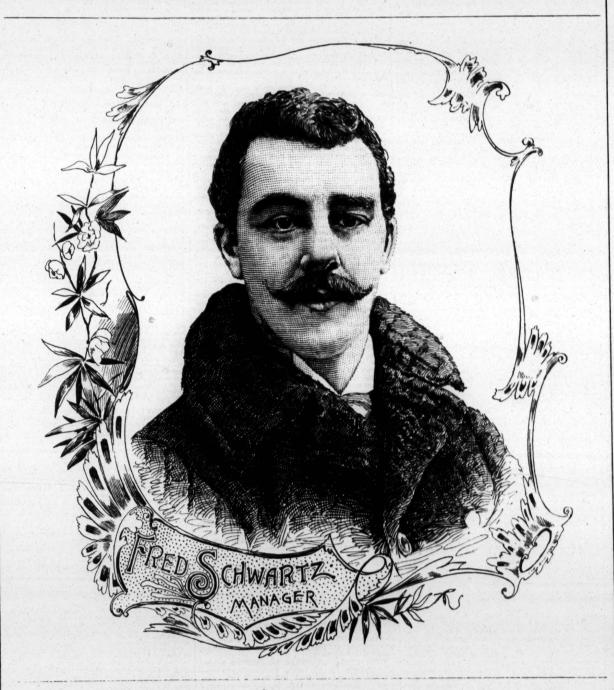

"If you do," said the editor, "I will allow you to write up what you please about the show and put it in the paper. The only charge I will make the company telling them of his scheme and how he had been successful in getting the best notices any company ever got. The receipt of this letter revived the drooping spirits of the company, and we all felt as if we were destined to get on our feet again.

We arrived in the town late, and by the time we had supper it was near the hour for opening the doors of the theatre. I was at the front of the house, and I must confess I had no fears as to the success of the experiment. I braced myself and waited for the crowd that was coming to the theatre, but they did not come. Several boys with complimentary tickets came up to the door, but not a cash customer appeared.

Baiting a Postmaster.

The reputation that Pueblo gained as being a lively town a few years back was due to the unsel-fish efforts of some of her citizens—young fellows full of vim and go. They were up to all sorts of jokes, and the leader in all their pranks was the present massive Deputy United States Marshal in Denver, Stimson. The postmaster at this time was one Ingersoil, whose official position robbed him of all ability to take a joke. In consequence, he was a frequent butt. A favorite trick of the jokers was to do up a piece of meat, mark some fictitious ad-dress on it, and pop it in the office, where it would nain until the odor became unendurable will be that you set up these three columns of news, the articles you write about the show, and help me to run off the inside of the paper on the press."

John, of course, jumped at this proposition, as he knew it gave him the chance of his life to sound fulsome praises of his company, and that this would no doubt draw big money into the house, and put the company on its feet. He called for copy, and started to make the type fly. At first he was a little slow, being a little out of practice, but as he warmed to his work the knowledge of the case came back to him, and he went at lightning speed. Into cold lead went the astounding news that Mrs. Gillicuddy's cow had just gotten over a bad case of lump jaw, that Miss Wahoo was on a trip to the city, and other news of like importance Faster and faster went the nimble fingers of John while the editor sat on a soap box, and blew which of smoke from an old and black clay pipe into the face of his new compositor. He gave no whatever to John, but seemed satisfied to sit and watch him.

All day long John worked and far into the night and early the next morning he was at the case when the hour of noon arrived John went to the otel, and after putting on an old suit of clothes re turned to the office and started to whirl the wh of the press. It was not work, but John knew it was in a good cause and did not mind the discom-

When he had finished there was but little time for him to catch the train for the next town he was for him to catch the train for the next town he was going to, and, after getting a copy of the finished inside of the paper, and bidding the editor good bye, he had to run to catch the train.

It was with happy heart and smiling face that John went into the next town, for he well knew that the long notices he had written and set up for The Weekly Call would be sure to bring out a large house. As he gazed on the flattering notices in the partly printed paper he had reason for self congratulation, for no show ever had such notices. That day passed quickly for John, as he he had lots of work to attend

For a few moments I was staggered, and doubted the efficacy of the press. How it was possible for the people not to come to such a widely advertised s too much for me. Then I sent for the editor of the paper, and in a few moments he came sauntering slowly down the street. Hastily pulling out a copy of the partly printed sheet I asked him if that was a copy of his paper. To this question he answered affirmatively. Then I was struck and could do nothing but gaze into vacancy.

Suddenly the editor spoke, and his words sent the arrow of despair into my soul. "That agent of yours," he said, "was a pretty slick fellow, and helped me out wonderfully, but he wasn't fly enough to ask me what day my paper

Not fully comprehending the full extent of his words, I managed to stammer out, "What day does your paper come out?"

He pulled out a big plug of tobacco, and, as his ponderous jaws closed on the weed, he tersely said:

ponderous) "Saturday."

There we were, stranded in a strange town, our trunks seized for a monstrous board bill, and all because our newspaper notices did not appear until two days after our show was to appear.

This trouble might have proven a blessing in disguise had we been able to secure the opera house for the night when the paper came out; but even that loop-hole was not left us, for a troupe of ama-teurs from a neighboring city had that date and teurs from a neighboring city had that date and they packed the house, people thinking it was our The company disbanded then and there, and the people straggled out of town as best they could reight cars being a favorite way of making the next town. John is still in the business and is a successful agent, but all you have to say, in order to make him assume a dignified air, is: "John, how would you like to be a compositor?"

There is one thing he is very careful about, dates, and he scrutinizes the dates of all newspapers carefully, and until his dying day will never forget his experience in "JOLLYING A NEWSPAPES."

The climax was reached when a close fitting lece of tin was one day placed over the outside let ter chute, bearing a neat label:

PLEASE HAND YOUR LETTERS

TO THE POSTMASTER. Postmaster Ingersoll was at work inside when tap, tap, came on his little window. He pulled open and received a letter. He said nothing.

A moment later, tap, tap, again. Another hand-ful of letters. The Postmaster glared, but said nothing Again tap, tap. This time it was an innocent but irritable stranger. The window flew open and he nanded his letter in. Postmaster Ingersoll's choler burst forth: "You blank dashed to thunder, blank and double blanked fool, you, why don't you out your blankety dashed letter in the box there?".

The stranger was equal to the occasion.
"You blank dashed, gabbering idiot, what's the matter with you? I'm only doing what you told "Never spoke to you, blank you."

"Well, your blanked sign, then." "Got no sign, you infernal lunatic!" howled the Postmaster, fairly dancing in rage.

"You're a liar! It says 'hand your letters to the Postmaster,' and that's what I'm doing." Ingersoil grasped the situation, and went outsid to look at the thing.

"It's that infernal Stimson's work, blank him," said he. "If I could catch him I'd —. It's on me, stranger; yours truly will do the proper thing."-

RICH OLD PERSON .- What do you want a wife for when you can hardly support yourself? Why, sir, my daughter would starve! Snookins (with great dignity)—Well, sir, if you are the kind of a man to let your daughter and her husband starve, I don't wish to enter the family.

"OUR CITY is strictly prohibition," said number one. "Then it must be a poor place to get a head," remarked number two.—Pharmaceutical Era.

STARLIGHT.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY INEZ KNOWLTON,

We left the ballroom's glare and light, And said we'd seek some cooler place (I'd danced with you for half the night); You looked into my upturned face, And said, in such a tender tone: "Although a dance with you is bliss, I would be better pleased, I own, And deem it happier, far, than this, If we could spend these last few hours Away from all this heat and light: For 'Moonlight, Music, Love and Flowers' Are best on such a lovely night." We found a quiet, sequestered nook,

(It was delightful Summer weather) And, as we both were greatly "took," We two sat there for hours together. At first we talked of lovely night, Of the river rushing swiftly by, How the moonbeams made each wavelet bright. And then—I think you heaved a sigh. To tender nothings we then proceed, (But that of course is "under the rose"

A happy hour that was, indeed, Will it come again? Alas, who knows.
We pitied those who danced within, And spoke of our sense with great elation In our day how footish we all have been-Then-There's a lack of conversation

While dancing we had lots to say. Now—I almost long for morning. Then-There was jest and repartee, Now-"I really caught you yawning." The moon and stars are lovely—very. But lively? Alas, I answer "No." They don't inspire one to be merry. Who could be anything but slow?
I blush in thinking of that night,

How bored we were—how tame was Cupid.

I know you thought me—well, not bright, But (consoling thought) you were just as stupid.

FRED SCHWARTZ.

One of our youngest managers is Fred Schwartz, whose portrait we give this week. Born at Lewis-burg, Pa., in August, 1866, he spent his youth on his grandfather's farm until the age of fifteen, when he moved to Philadelphia. In that city he attended college until he was nineteen, when he was offered a position as traveling salesman for a jewelry house. While following that vocation he met a theatrical company stranded in a small town in Virginia. His sympathies were enlisted, and, with the assurance that he could have entire control of the company's business for three weeks, he accept ed the management. Pawning his samples with the hotel proprietor for the company's board and twenty-five dollars, he started to their opening nd. Unfortunately, during the afternoon word was received that the juvenile man had received an offer from Baltimore, and must leave on the first train. This caused their first production, "Camille," to be minus the part of Gustave. Then came the "hustling" ability of our embryo manager, for, taking the part himself, and while "dodgering" the houses and suburbs of Fredericksburg, Va., he memorized the role, sufficiently to play it (with the aid of the prompter) to the apparent satisfaction of the audience. The next night "Mary, Queen of Scots," was billed, and, of course, the juvenile part could not be doubled. Mr. Schwartz was again called into the cast. Finding himself "in for it," he reluctantly accepted the part, and by night considered himself sufficiently ready to do away with rehearsal. When his one came Mr. Schwartz, presumably from anxiety as to his new departure and mental overexertion, "spouted" the lines of "Ca-mille" instead of those in "Mary, Queen of Scots." The effect can easily be imagined. The audience, appreciating the position (after an explanation), very kindly permitted the withdrawal of the play and the substitution of "Camille." The next day the man arrived, and business continued good until Mr. Schwartz toured Virginia, Maryland and New Jersey, landing the company back in New York with salaries paid in full and over $600 in his own pocket. He then secured the advance man-agement of Marguerite St. John's Co., and during the season of 1888-9 successfully piloted that troupe on a tour embracing nearly every State and Terri-tory in the Union, and portions of Mexico and Canada. His work on this tour brought him into recognition, and the past four years has found him in the capacity of agent or manager with Ollie Red-path. Thatcher, Primrose & West's Minstrels, "Running Wild," the American Opera Co., Lydia Thompson, "Zigzag," Lizzle Evans, etc. This season Mr. son, "Zigzag," Lizzle Evans, etc. This season Mr. Schwartz has secured a three years' contract with Madeline Meril, who will open her American star-ing tour at Washington, Sept. 12, in "Fron Fron." Miss Merli was a pupil of the late Dion Boucleault.

In England the first pipes used appear to have been made of clay, with narrow bowls and con-tracted mouths. Then, as the habit grew stronger tracted mouths. Then, as the habit grew stronger and 'tobacco became cheaper, something more capacious would be required. These are the pipes which, under the name of "fairy pipes," are sometimes dug up and preserved as interesting relics of the past. Aubrey, writing about 1850, says: "They [the English people] first had silver pipes, but the ordinary sort made use of wainut shell and strawe. I have heard my grandfather say that one pipe was handed from man to man around the table. Within these thirty-five years "was scandalous for a divine to take tobacco. It was then sold for its wayte in to take tobacco. It was then sold for its wayte in silver. I have heard some of our old yeoman neighsilver. I have beard some of our old yeoman neighbours say that when they went to market they culled out their biggest shillings to lay in the scales against tobacco. Now the customers of it are the greatest his majesty hath." It is not generally known that the word "cutty," as applied to a species of clay pipe very much used, is a corruption of Kutaieh, the name of a city in Asia Minor, where a species of soft white stone is found which is exported by the Turks to Germany for the manufacture of totalogo [1pes. - Al the Fear 'Round.

UNDER WHITE TENTS

The Fakirs.

We're such jolly fakirs, Envied one and all By a thoughtless public, By the great and small. Such very easy lives
We're all-supposed to live,
Never knowing trials,

Naught but pleasure give. Such 'tis thought about us By the world at large, That troubles never enter Our dramatic barge;

And when we blaze with gems Behind the footlight's glare. They think our paths are paved With jewels everywhere.

Never sorrows knowing, Never meeting care, Naught but sunshine always, Pleasure everywhere.

But beneath our "make ups," Our lives we ne'er reveal; And little knows the world With smiles upon the face
And pain within the heart,
'Tis thus we pass through life,
'Tis thus we play our part.

And when at last we're called To play our part in Heaven, Then let us hope there's none Will miss a "cue" that's given.

ONE of the most destructive rain and wind storm of the season swept down upon Clarksville, Mo. July 2, and much property was destroyed. The Lemon Bros.' AGENT DAVIS, of T. K. Burk's Show, was in town last week, and on July 9 was a CLIPPER visitor. He reports a continuously prosperous tour in New England, and a notably successful stand at Hotyoke, Mass., Sturday night, June 25, where the show gave two evening performances, the last concluding at eleven o'clock. At both shows the tents were crowded. All the people are well, and there have been no changes of note in the roster.

That strange freak of nature, "the Siamese Twias," has, it appears, been repeated in Orissa. The "Orissa Twins" are described as two little Urlya girls, about twelve Summers oid. When last heard of they were leaving by steamer for England, on their way to the World's Fair, though they will first be exhibited at London. They are, it is stated, firmly poined together, and it one is fed both are satisfied. When they were in early infancy at Hoapsra, in the interior of Orissa, the native villagers looked upon them as the incarnation of the devit, and their parents were boyouted by their caste people. A story is that the father's first impulse was to separa'e them by cutting the sac which ioins them together, and the mark made in the attempt is still visible. A wealthy tebalider of the district, however, intervened. Ketter Natck, the father of the twins, is reported to be now steadily growing rick.

RINGLING NOTES.—At Wausau, Wis., the "glorious Fourth" came 'round with glorious business. The carvas was fiagged in extravagant style, the band played a beautiful medley of pariotic airs, and the surging human tide poured in without cessation, filling the hundreds of extra seats clean down to the guard ropes that bound the hippodrome track. At Marshfield, Wis., July 5, there was no let up in business. Though we hear of other shows catching bad weather, we have had no rain for six weeks, and beneath a smilling blue sky are having a sweet revenge for the month of rain with which the season opened. Whenever you pass the ticket wagon, the pleasant jingle of counted money falls upon the ear. In accord with their annual custom, the Ringlings spent a goodly sum for fireworks to boom the Fourth of July. They fairly illuminated the town, building enormous bonfires and sending up new fangled rockets and sky scraping Roman candles, whose constant sheaves of golden rain kept up a quiet firitation with the stars. A Jap kid scattered the crowd by dropping a Roman candle, running in fright from its furious downpour of sparks, which he characterized as "too much rain in the face." C. W. Fish is now riding in splendid style, and his literary drift of mind and many varied accomplishments make him a pleasant accession to our dressing rooms. A performer supreme on horseback, he is also a clever artist with the pencil, his portiolio of drawings showing many picturesque sketches of performers donning tights, smoking old fashioned pipes or disporting in other ways that catch the artistic eye. The aerial act of the Vernons, introducing a full double somersant from flying bar to hand clasp, and concluding with a plunge from the dome of the tent to the arms of the catching partner, is a heavily featured turn that is making a great sensation. Moncayo, our graceful and very clever contortionist, will be seen in the East next Winter with the firm Brothers' Co.

HARRY G. LEE writes as follows from Peenang, Chioa, under date of May 28: "Fil has fully recovered. They are resting at Philadelphia, but intend playing dates the balance of the Summer.

Chas. Lee's London Shows.—Every day down East is circus day. The show is playing to the biggest business in its history. The sideshow is playing from six to eight openings a day. Mell Zeita received a large consignment of snakes last week. Billy Clifton, with his horse candy stand wagon, took an unsuspected bath in the Kennebec River while ferrying last week. Joe La Floner is working again after a week lay off from his injuries. At Bucksport the boys visited Fort Knox. We turned out six more iron grays at Rockland last week, which fill out the parade with forty four grays. We are down in Maine, from forty to fitty miles from a railroad, but Bert Laulsman, our Clipper and mail agent, never misses us. The Old Reliable appears weekly, and it is fully investigated.

The Pawner Medicine Co., No. 1, opening at Metropolitan Temple, San Francisco, Cal., July 7, for six weeks, includes: C. A. Burgess, manager; Wm. Clark, treasurer; Harry Burgess, lecturer; Billy Harvey, Pete Brady, Dot Harvey, Dick Western, Joaquin Builsley and Harry Miton. Company No. 2, opening at Alameda, Cal., July 7, for four weeks, includes: F. P. Burgess, manager and lecturer; Eddie La Rose, Hugh J. Emmett, Frank Adams, Billy Weston, N. H. Dawson, Geo. Dunbar and "Shorty."

Hamlin's Willard Oll. Co., No. 6, under the management of Dr. F. W. Sanders, are still holding the banner, although rain and floods have seriously interferred with business. This will be our last week in Missouri, the remainder of the Summer will be spent in lows. Besides Dr. Sanders, Mr. Marcham, Stansfield and Witting have their wives with them, making the company quite a family party. Prof. Moss, the juggler, joined us July 4, and H. C. Clary, artist, joined 5.

Robinson's Combined Shows are now in Illinois. We put in the Fourth at Crystal City, Mo., to the banner business of the season. Sam Wright, our balloonist, made a splendid trip to the clouds. He was carried some six miles before reaching native soil. The show laid over one day at St. Louis. The boys had their Fourth there. Some invested in new clothes. Mrs. Dorr, our treasurer, was presented with a gold neck chain by the performers. We play illinois one month, then go back to Missouri.

This property of the "Great International Railroad Shows," exhibiting in Southern California under the management of W. H. Pomeroy, was attached at Los Angeles June 27, on a small claim for wages, and the following day other attachments were levied to secure payment of local claims and a draft from Texas. The aggregate of these amounts, with costs, was about $150, which was settled after some difficulty. In connection with the matter, Mr. Pomeroy served an affidavit on the officer making the attachment, showing that the property belonged to a man in Texas.

CLARK & WOLF'S CONGRESS OF NoveLITES are playing Burgalo. They purchased a new outiff

ment, snowing that the property belonged to a man in Texas.

CLARK & WOLF'S CONGRESS OF NOVELTIES are playing Buffalo. They purchased a new outsit there. They have a brass band and a good company. Clark & Wolf, proprietors; Wm. E. Clark, manager; Joe Wolf, treasurer.

LA PEARL'S TEN AND TWENTY CENT RAILROAD SHOW are playing through lillinois. Everybody is in good health. The season so far has been very good, and it is a settled fact that the show will go South this Fall. W. H. Quinnet'e, the clown, paid a dying visit to St. Louis July 6. Wm. Mathews is practicing a new act. Our company number over fifty people, and blue paper is quite numerous. The Old Reliable reaches us every week and is a welcome visitor. Our mail man, Walter Slaybaugh, supplies the company.

THE SNYDER & ZIMMERNAN ALL FEATURE SHOWS are organizing for the Fairs. They will have three separate shows, and each will have a full brass.

THE SNYDER & ZHMERMAN ALL FRATURE SHOWS are organizing for the Fairs. They will have three separate shows, and each will have a full brass band. The season opens Aug. 20, and will continue until Christmas in the South. Prof. Hugo will have charge of the curio department with Show No. 1. George W. Orrin and family are at the Sturtevant House, this city.

P. W. DONOVAN and his wife are visiting their old homestead at Oswego, N. Y. Mrs. Donovan was once a popular bareback rider under the professional name of Cleo.

NOTES FROM SCRIBNER & SMITH'S SHOW.—Our business along the New Jersey coast has been exceptionally good., Harry Kernell was a visitor at Asoury Park. Manager Scribner purchased a very fine clown's turnout from Mr. Kernell, consisting of a tandem team of small donkeys, including harness and cart. Mr. Raymond and Mr. Olts, of the Hunting Show, were visitors at Long Branch. Neil Smith and J. R. Tucker are doing some fine advance work. We have not missed a show or a salary day this season.

work. We have not missed a show or a salary day this season.

Cook & Whitby's English and American Circus have had two smashups. The first was at Richiand Centre, Wis, July 7, when several cars were detached, and on the following morning at 8ni Mc-Gill Bridge, Ia., the train ran off the track, again ditching three cars of stock and killing twenty-five horses and injuring two so that they had to be shot. Two men were hurt, one being the Circassian prince. The train was running at twenty miles an hour, and the accident was caused by the rails spreading. The show was unable to exhibit at Prairte Du Chien, Wis, and Maquokets, Ia.

Dr. Allen's Diamond Medicine Co. opened at Hunting on, W. Va., June 25, and have been doing an evenly good business.

Doings of Downie & Gallagher's Circus.—On July 'we purchased Harry Montford's Floating Palace of Wonders, which we are having converted into a horse palace. We now have a full and complete fleet. Many of the boys are happy since we left the stormy Seneca. It would not do to mention names for criticism, but we have a great number of men that make far better musician and performers than saliors. Mons. Durell joined at Jordan, N. Y., 7.

NOTES FROM MEXICAN BILLY'S CALIFORNIA MUSEUM.—Our opening was a fattering success. We gave ten shows during the day to accommodate the crowds. A terrible storm struck the tent July 2 and blew it down, but no damage was done. Charlie Wilson joined 3 for the second time this season. The Bruces will join 18, with a band of genuine Indians.

JAMES MURRAY and his wife, Linda Jeal, will sail for Europe next week. Mr. Murray goes over on business connected with his agency firm, as well as in search of renewed health.

W. H. McFarland has disposed of his interest in the Kelley & McFarland Ten Cent Show to his partner, Thos. P. Kelley. The latter will continue touring the company, while Mr. McFarland has joined Prof. W. Dayton's Show.

James A. Balley, the head of the Greatest Show on Earth, paid a flying visit to the metropolis this week.

THE LA CLEDE BROS. have close their engagement with the Burk Show, and are resting in this city.

RECENTLY, while the Orrin Brothers' Show was performing at Zacatecas, a large town in Mexico, Dick Bell Jr., a son of the well known clown, met with a peculiar and nearly serious accident. While on the trapeze he got his cravat caught in the rope and was nearly choked to death before he could be released. Bannack seems to have been the only performer present who did not lose his head. Climbing up on the shoulders of an acrobat, he cut the rope and let the boy down to the ground. After his rescue the little fellow had a fit, but finally came around all right.

GEORE W. KLINE and his wife, Mamie Kline, and his mule, "Topsy," are doing finely at Eldorado, just across the Hudson from New York. Mrs. Kline's flat and chariot races in the big out door spectacle, "Egypt Through Centuries," form a very stirring and interesting feature of the exhibition. Mr. Kline and his trick donkey are well remembered for their funny anctics in "The Country Circus" during its long run at the Academy of Music, this city, and in other large cities. The pair are as amusing as ever. Mr. Kline, who was a jolly Clir-per called "Danger," and is practising a new act for a special engagement at Paris, Fr., later on.

The amusement features of the Baltimore County Fair, held at Timonium, Md., are as follow: On the first day members of the Baltimore Athletic Club give an exhibition of vaulting, jumping, racing and wrestling. This will be in charge of Prof. Doyle, the club's instructor. After this will come Prof. Burke's trained dogs. There will be five races, one of which will be a steeplechase, ridden by members of the Elkridge Hunt, and other recognized hunt clubs, and at four o'clock a balloon ascension by a lady. On the second day there will be a high jumping contest, the horses to be ridden by their owners, feats of contortion, tight wire walking, swing and trapeze acts. In the afternoon a balloon race, one balloon being guided by a lady and th

James A. Herne; Mr. Foster, Frankin Garland; Omce Boy, Master Ed. Lynch; Charlie Burton, Master Ralph Theodore; Margaret Fleming, Mrs. James A. Herne; Maria Bindey, Maude Banks: Ellen, Mira Book, Mrs. Burton, Louise Hall. A large audience was present and was moved by a strong play, beautifully presented. The general verdict is that Mr. Herne's play is a distinct success, to which result the charming personality of Mrs. Herne has contributed much. The author was called before the curtain and given 5 movation, after which he made a brief and tasteful speech. 'The Volunteer' 17.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—"The Isle of Champagne," with Comedian Thos. Q Seabrooke restored to his usual health, will finish its successful run 9 when the company will rest fire weeks, opening at the Globe Theatre. Boston, Aug. 15. - Peak's Island, Portland, Me., was the scene of some extra excitement Saturday evening, July 9, consequent upon the premature closing of the theatre at the Greenwood Garden. It appeared that C. H. Knowlton, who has run this place for many years past, secured it for this season by agreeing to give past, secured it for this season by agreeing to give up the principal portion of the first gate receipts to owner, a Mr. Brackett, until the whole amount was paid. His next move was to secure Al. Haynes, who was Summering on the Island, as his manager, for a percentage of the profits. Many professionals came without questioning the responsibility, because of their knowledge of Mr. Haynes, and, when the first Saturday night arrived, they claim that Mr. Knowlton absented himself after notifying Mr. Haynes that he (Knowlton) had no means beyond the receipts to pay his bills. Mr. Haynes, realizing the predicament, in order to save his own reputation, paid all bills out of his own pocket to all who had any just claims upon him, and renounced all connection with the exhibition. He also paid two thirds of Mr. Knowlton's salary list, but many unjust and loudly unpleasant public demonstrations were made during the first ebuillition of professional wrath at the premature closure, which, however, ended in exonerating Mr. Haynes, who has always borne an hon orable, record in the past. He claimed he was willing to pay his own bills, but hanged if he was going to pay another man's." Mr. Knowlton placed T. C. Howard in a similarly unpleasant position last season, and the record of this place has been bad for four seasons past. The dropping of business was principally due to the large steamboat, S. E. Spring, which was the only means of direct conveyance to the Garden, being taken away by its owners, and a small one, of insufficient capacity, being substituted, through courtesy of the opposition line, the Casco Bay Co., which runs three large, finely appointed boats to the Pavilion and Rink. But for this concession there would have been no patronage whatever at the Greenwood Garden. A few years ago Mr. Knowlton was agent of a. d in conjunction with this line, but differences aros which caused the antagonism of its owners, and the fact that every round trip ticket sold by the casco Eay Line includes an admission to the Pavilion up the principal portion of the first gate receipts to owner, a Mr. Brackett, until the whole amount was boys, girls, everybody helped themselves by the basketful, and even then did not exhaust the supply. Every family lived on fish the next day. Lew Browning has purchased a very fine two story residence, and is constantly improving it, while his brother. Harry, is looking for a site to build another. T. C. Howard is about concluding the purchase of an elegant twelve room Queen Ann residence, as agent for a Boston friend, andseveral professionals who have been prosperous the past season are looking for investments. Boating is a favorite pastime, and several actors own sailing, is well as rowboats.

— Will E. Hines and Earle Remington have as yet preferred not to sign any engagement for 1892—3, aithough they have received fattering ofters from Weber & Fields, Anderson's "Two Old Cronies" and other companies. Their plan is to again take out "Hearts of New York." if they can obtain the handling they require. Mr. and Mrs. Hines are at present resting at Mrs. litnes' Summer home, Decatur, iii.

— The new tour of Hallen and Hart, in "The Idea," will open Sept. 5. Manager J. Jay Brady has engaged Alice Carle, formerly of the Bostoniaus, and Adelaide Crawford as additions to next season's vocal contingent, which will thus have notable strength. A southertie is to be engaged yet, but otherwise the company is complete. Mr. Hart is rusticating at Vinal Haven, Me. Fred Hallen is at Chicago, where Mrs. Hallen (Molite Fuller) has made a hit with her "serpentice dance" in "Miss Helyett." Manager Brady goes to Lake Mahopac. The new piece will be somewhat revised for the Fall and Winter tour, the hird act, in particular, undergoing embellishment.

— "His Nibs the Baron" goes on the road next season under the management of Rutter & Youngs are engaging the best vocalists, dancers and comedians that money can be purchase of the piece, and will be one of the features. VARIETY ON TRELITY

"Tou-Ka-Doo," a Chinese song and dance duet, was composed by Fred Wilson, manager of Miner's Eighth Avenne Theatre, this city, expressly for Grapewin and Garnett, and was first performed by them at the attaches' benefit at that theatre, June 30. It was given as an introductory to their act, and made an instantaneous hit.

Helen Conklin, the California soubrette, has declined several flattering offers of engagements in other cities, and is still singing and dancing her way into popular favor among our city's places of amusement.

M. J. Mukphy, late of Murphy and Murphy, has joined hands with his old partner, William boyd, after a separation of twelve years. The team will be known as Murphy and Herd, introducing a sketch, called "The Comical Drummers,"

J. C. Hughes, of Symmonds, Hughes and Rastus, will take a six weeks' vecation at his home, St. Louis, Mo., before opening with Carneross' Minstrels, at Philadelphia, for next season.

MANAGER CHARLES E. Cook, of the Lynn, Mass., Musee, is now manager of the Seaside Resort Hotel, Nahant, Mass. His museum season will open Aug.

Prof. Lovenberg is the musical director at Reith's Galety Theatre, Providence, R. I.

Helens Mora will sail for America July 9. She writes that she has enjoyed her trip, and that her throat was never in better condition to sing than it is at present. She will bring with her a number of new songs. She also brings six of the best acts the London music halls have. They will be expensive, but her manager, Mr. Hyde, says: "The people of this country want the best," and he is going to give it to them, no matter what it costs.

THE LENTON BROS. and Karl and Castellat are combining pleasure with business at Pooria, Ill. When not on duty with Pains, 'fireworks exhibition they devote their time to yachting, fishing and taking sulphur baths.

FERDON AND BRESON have signed with George Arlington's Minstrels.

ROSA ETTINGER, the little daughter of Stella Farrington, gave her mother a helping hand at the Galety, Newark, N. J., week of July 4. Little Rosa has a good voice, and is a clever dancer.

THE Season of W. S. Cleveland's All United Minstrels opens Aug. 1, at the Boston, Mass., Theatre. The company is nearly complete, and most people will take Mr. Cleveland's word for it that "it is a corker." U. W. Hindley, musical director, and Al. Wilson, basso and stage mansger, are among the latest engagements. The Ledger Job Print is turning out some excellent printing, and the four agents ahead of the United next season will try hard to outbill a half dozen ordinarily billed attractions. Manager Cleveland adds: "I'll have but the one company next season, and it will receive my personal attention."

BILLY LESTER AND W. T. BRYANT, brown as berries and full of enthusiasm over seaside cottage, hammocks, big fish, etc., were callers July 12. They have a fishing record of fourteen pounds, with three fish in the basket and much envy from their less fortunate brethren. Billy Lester will give an entertainment at the Red Bank Opers House, July 12, the programme including among others Maggie Cline, Bryant and Richmond, Lester and

Kansas City.—Ity a decision handed down July 2, by the Supreme Court, managers of theatree may exclude negro patros from the theatre or confine them to a certain portion of the house reserved for that purpose. The case is an important one, being the first legalizing of the coin r line in this State. Simpson U. Younger, in December, 1888, through some oversight, purchased two tickets calling for orchestra seats at the Nith Street Theatre. When he presented the tickets at the door he and his companion were refused admission. The management offered to exchange tickets for seats in that portion reserved for colored patron of the seats, but the seats of the door he and his companion were refused admission. Marie Almee, having retired from opera boufe in consequence of her voice having falled her, opened Dec. 15 for the first time in this city in an English speaking role. Mam'zelle" afforded nearly three hours of innocent and healthful amusement. Almee's use of the English language was simply delightful. Her every word was distinct, and whatever foreign infection or tone she gave to a sentence made it all the more quaint. The writer of this traveled with Almee as manager for one season, and found that her brightness, vivacity and spontaneous humor made her popular. She possessed that inimitable art which is found nowhere in such perfection as on the Parisian stage. When she retired from the operaties and the stage it lost its bright exponent of comic opera. From the first of her career in the United States she was a favorite; she knew how to win the public; knew how to humor it, how to satisfy its exprices, how to adapt her art to its likes and dislikes.

My Old "Clippers."

In the quiet of my attic when the rain is pouring down.
Where the colwebs cling in clusters from the wall,
And the chimney swallows angrily protest my presence here. While tender reminiscences hang o'er me like a pall, Piled high in every corner, I see the familiar page.

Bright and crisp the later ones, like beardless youth,
they shine—
The colored veterans of thirty years, wrinkled, dim with age—

I cherish, for they are to me like dust on good old wine. What mem'ries, grave and gay, rise as I sit and muse. Surely none but Chipper devotees can facey the ec-static biles That permeates, thrills, enraptures. Ah, me! there's some excuse

For plunging into ecstacles with such a treat as this.

As the wheel of time moves 'round, and years go o'er my head.

I climb the attic ladder, and I listen to the rain.

Jennie Weathersby was injured quite severely — Jennie Weathersby was injured quite severely during the opening performance of "Sinbad," at the Garden Theatre, this city June 30. Miss Weathersby was playing the eccentric comedy part of Maraschina. In the first act the business of the piece required her to jump over a wall, supposably into the water. In making this plunge Miss Weathersby struck her kneecap and fractured it. The accident caused confusion and dismay, for Miss Weathersby's part was an important one. A substitute was hastily caused confusion and clamay, for Miss weathersby's part was an important one. A substitute was hastily dressed and made up for it, going on as a lay figure merely and speaking very few of the lines. The audience could not understand this sudden extinction of Miss Weathersby, for nobody in front seemed to know that another person was finishing the performance. It is not likely that Miss Weathersby will be able to return to the "Sinbad" cast during its eight weeks' run in this city. Fortunately for the company, Jessie Villers, who played Salmagundi in the opening performance, acted Miss Weathersby's part in the Chicago production.

— Mark Murphy denies that he has decided to give up his starring tour. He has thirty-five weeks beoked for "O'lbowd's Neighbors."

| The content of the week which finished somnoiently on July 9. Indoor amusements did not flourish remarkably, save in one conspicuous instance. Even comic opera languished noticeably, more's the pity; but our pair of roof gardens and the fireworks and bailet spectacles near at hand thr'ved splendidly......Even the national holiday was devoid of notable happenings at the playhouses, for only one theatre was pairiotic enough to announce an extramatinee. That was the Garben, where "Sinbad" appears to be enjoying a tolerably prosperous rur. The other unchanged programmes were: "A Trip to Chinatown" at Hoyt's Madison Square, "The Vice Admiral" at the Casino, "Jupiter" at Paimer's, Hebrew shows at the Thalia and the Eighth Street, and straight variety at Tony Pastor's, whe London, Miner's Bowery and Eighth Avenus, and the Harlem Pavilion. "A Trip to Chinatown" was acted for the 250th consecutive time at Hoyt's Madison Square night of S. Every lady anditor received a silver blotter as a souvenir. The training of the ushers at the Madison Square, for action in case of alarm or panic, was again proved on this night, as it was one afternoon early in the season. The house was crowded. After the second act there were calls for the author of the play. The calls all came from people on the orchestra floor, and to those sitting in the balcony, who did not re-

The disagreement about the sale of Frank W. Sanger's shares in the Broadway Theatre Co. to T. II. French, which has already reached the courts in the form of an application for an injunction to restrain Mr. Sanger from selling the shares to any one except Mr. French brought Mr. French back from Europe a few weeks ahead of his expected time, and he arrived July 6. He said that the day before he salled for England, Mr. Sanger came to him, and asked him to make an offer for his shares. He offered $100,000. Mr. Sanger accepted the terms, sand gave him an option till June 11, that he might consult his father about the matter, at London, and get money from him for the purchase. On June 10, Mr. French said, he telegraphed to Mr. Sanger that he would take the shares. The lawyers who were consulted in regard to the transfer did not think that the acceptance by cable would be sufficient, and Mr. French accordingly telegraphed a power of attorney to W. H. Matthews, who went on with the arrangements. In the meantime, Eliot Zborowski, the third member of the Broadway Theatre Co, made Mr. Sanger a larger offer for his shares, and Mr. Sanger refused to sell them to Mr. French. It has been said that a by law of the Broadway Theatre Co, forbids any member to sell his stock without offering it to all the other members. Mr. French says that the law is simply that the stock cannot be sold to an outsider till it has been offered to some one member of the company. Mr. French said that Lillian Russell would sail for America July 20. Miss Russell's season in "The Mountebanks" will begin at San Francisco in September, and she will reach the Garden Theatre Dec. 25. She has the part of Teress; Laura Clement will sing that of Nita, Ilay-den Coffin will be Joseph, a of Wr. T. Carleton Bioto. Two songs have been added to the opera for Mr. Coffin. The plans for Mr. French's new theatre, at Forty-second Street and Eighth Avenue, were approved by the Buildings Departmente.

Worth's Museum.—The weather has certainly been encouraging to Manager Worth's desire to furnish amusement to his patrons during the Summer. It is now a certainty that this house will establish a record among our city museums by keeping open right through the year. It is also a fact that an unwise policy of allowing the attractions presented at this time to be one with less interesting than those furnished during the regular season has not been adopted. On the contrary, special pains have been taken to present the very best class of museum exhibits, while the stage performers are of more than average ability. The museum features for this week are Balbroma, fire king; Mile, Olga, Grecian beauty; Sig, Mutty, and his trained monkey; Sich-demus Senol, the nondescript; Nayo, Guatamalian dwarf; Ghullem Houssein, Persian wizard; Tony White, Punch and Judy, and Prof. Worth's lecture upon special cases of interest. The stage people are: The Reed Family, J. Murray, Nellie Seymore and Geo. Shannon. m. Worth's Museum.—The weather has certainly Proctrop & Turker's statement as to the points in dispute between Elisabeth Marbury and themselves, concerning the alleged sale to them of the dramatic rights of "Mon Oncle Barbasson," differs somewhat from the version given by that lady. The first payment by Proctor & Turner, they assert, was to have been made, not as a forfest, but on account of the purchase of the exclusive rights to dramatize "Mon Oncle Barbasson" and play it in America. While those negotiations were in progress arrangements were made by William Fleron to produce "Elysuum" at Hermann's Theatre. It soon became apparent that the main theme of "Elysium" was taken from "Mon Oncle Barhasson," and Proctor & Turner then declined to complete the purchase unless Miss Marbury would give a clear title to the exclusive use of the dramatic rights they had bargained for. Miss Marbury was either unwilling or unable to do this, and so the purchase was never consumnated. Before matters were finally off, however, Miss Marbury urged Proctor & Turner to complete the deal, and then establish by legal procedure and at their own expense the rights which they propose to purchase from her. The offer to sell what might or might not prove to be a legal title was naturally ceclined.

Palmer's will reopen next week for another term of comic opera—this time with H. E. Dixey as the star, and "The Masect" as the first work. Camille D'Arville, Fred Lennox, Wm. Pruett, Yolande Wallace, Hilds Hollins and others will be in the cast. Later, "The Chimes of Normandy" may be done.

Toxy Pastor's Theathe.—The apex of dullness in the town's theatheals is reached just at this period, yet it is worthy of pointed record that the white cather finds no socket at this house. The attendance continues satisfactory, all things considered, and the programmes are uniformly meriterious. The bill for the week commencing July II is no exception to the rule. While it contains no decided novelty, there are sufficient full fledged faverities, sandwiched with enough tried and old timers, to make the entertainment thoroughly enjoyable. For instance, the discomiture attending the approach of the dog days is almost forgotten by the loyal amusement seeker when the privilege is granted of heaving, for the first time in nearly half a decade, that premier negro dialect team, Melntyre and Heath. They head the bill this week, and a jolly, good big head they make, too. Their impersonations of the real, true Southern darkey are wonderfully natural and exceptionally true to life. Their reputation is world wide, and their metropolitan admirers are legion in number and stannch in friendship. The team's welcome was nothing if not a rip roarer. They were in fine form, and easily renewed their triumphs of yore. The retained favorities on the bill were Evic Steisson, the charming vocalist, and Bonnie Thornton, the dainty and always agreeable balladist. Others on the bill who did not fail to earn hearty and deserved receptions were Billy Carter, the popular wit, elever banjoist, and comic singer: Frank Girard, a capital comedian: Petrie and Elise, an always agreeable sketch team: Molle Thompson, a singer and dancer of the good old school, who experienced a brilliant farce comed

A CHANGE has been made in the plans for the production of William Gillette's adaptation from Alexandre Bisson, called "Settled out of Court," which was to be heard for the first time at the Madison Square Theatre, on Aug. 8: Hoyt & Thomas lave decided that they do not want to give up their house at that time, and it has been arranged that "Settled Out of Court," shall be given on the date shready set at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, under the management of Hoyt & Thomas. At the Madison Square, therefore, "A Trip to Chinatown," will be continued as long as it prospers.

MINER'S BOWERT THEATRE—The delightful uncertainty of the commonwealth plan seems to have its attractions as another good bill is presented this week. Campbell and Larkin, change artists; Lillian Ladson, serio comic; Wm. McGonagie, jig and reel dancer; the Keegans, in a sketch; John J. Sheehan, with songs; Yankee Moore, comedian; Latelland Greve, in their musical specialty: Frank Riley, dancer; Byron and Rilanche, in a sketch; Vail dare, trick bleyclist, and the Pavanelli Troupe of musical pavers, make up the show. Next week, Baseo & Roberts' Co.

SIMMONDS & BROWN, the dramatic agents, are quite busy now completing engagements for the Fall season. During the past week they closed the following for "A Fair Rebel": Kate Osterice, Belle Bucklin Eaker, Jennie Elberts, Thomas Dunn, Ernest A. Foster, J. W. Kingsley, J. Hooker Wright, J. P. Keefe, Robert Thorne and C. Mitchell. Harry Sanford is the advance agent. For James O'Neill: Adelaide Cushman, Clement S. Martin, Edith Athelstone and C. Brady. For C. E. Callahan: Frank Karrington, Jerry Whitbeek, Harry Hanscombe and E. Wright. For Katle Emmett's "Killarney:" Annie Haines, Geo. W. Deyo and E. Ganter. For "The Black Crook:" Sam Collins, W. H. Bartholomew, Mrs. Selden Irwin, Mons. Bertrand of the Alhambra, London, as ballet master; Mile. Yole Tornaghi, Amelis Weavenoffer and Maria Rizzi, premieres, from Italy (their American debut); also sixteen coryphees, besides extra ladies and supernumeraries for this big production. For Uille Akerstrom: W. T. Dulanev, siage manager and old men, and H. L. Wood, carpenter. For "The Power of the Press:" Edward Knott, J. P. Clarke having resigned. Mark Price and Willie Young for Robert Downing. J. W. Francoeur for Julia Marlowe. The Brothers Pasquelinos, head balancers, have been engaged at London by Eugene Tompkins for "The Black Crook."

MAMMOTH PAVILION, HARLEM.—This week's bill: Prof. J. Loris, Miss Altina, Williams and Manning, Bobby Mack, the Butlers, May Hornby, Joe Fields and Sam and Morris Weston.

MINER'S EIGHTH AVENUE THEATRE.—The commonwealth plan of sharing of receipts is still in vogue. The houses averages from light to fair. The following are on this week's Griff Williams, Harrington and Aubrey, Thomas Webster, Clem C. Magee and Neille Parker, John H. W. Byrne, the Esters, Prince Pharkoh, Leona Lewis, Basco and Roberts. The show concludes with sparring bouts, wherein George Siddons agrees to meet all comers during the week.

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

KATE CASTLETON.—The playgoing community, which had long cherished an affection for this captivating soubrette, will learn with surprise and sorrow of her sudden death, which occurred at Lakeside, near Providence, R. I., Sunday, July 10, as the result of peritonitis. Until within a few days of her death she had been actively preparing days of her death she had been actively properting market, Mr. Tree has a new play by Henry Artury Jones ready:

knew him as Fred Elliott, and still others as Joe Reilly. She married him, and It was not long before he was arrested on a charge of forgery. The marriage, it was said, took place after a three davs' acquaintances, and after the groom had dooded. Turkey with forged drafts. The marriage took place in the Little Church Around the Corner, this city, the bride wearing a stage costume and the groom a business suit. A supper at Delmonico's followed the nuptials. The wife left the stage at the husband's request, and later was shocked by the arrest of her husband for forging a draft for $64,000 on the New York Life Insurance Co. While on his way to prison he made his escape and was only rearrested after he had participated in an $5,600 robbery. Miss Castleton endeavored to have him released, and succeeded. In 1881 he became jealous of her, and secured a divorce. A year after they were married again. The remarriage was not happy. Clayton, as he was best known, caught his wife one night talking with a man on Sixth Avenue, and he came near killing him. They were then divorced. Miss Castleton afterward married Harry Phillips, from whom she has been separated about two years. In March, 1886, Clayton was arrested in this city, charged with forgeries committed at Rochester, N. Y. He was sentenced to fifteen years in State Prison, and is now serving out the sentence. Miss Castleton's later stellar tours were made in "A Paper Doil," "A Crazy Patch" [and (last season) "The Dazzler," in which latter farce she succeeded Lydia Thompson as the star. Her father and mother and two sisters are living at Oakland, Cal. Miss Castleton's body was brought to this city night of July 11, and was taken to the house of a friend at 251 West Thirty-ninth Street. The funeral will probably be held 13. Manager George H. Murray has taken charge of the remains, and has notified the actress' relatives. It is believed that Miss Castleton had accumulated considerable money under the management of her second husband, and owned a very pretty place near Oak Arthur. For a short time he was a soldier in the Union Army, and served in the same regiment with Horatia King. He leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters.

MRS EARLE P. Lewis, known to the profession as Valerie Desimonde, died suddenly July 4, of convulsions. Mrs. Lewis was the daughter of Edwin Jacobs, of Philadelphia, and was spending the Summer with her husband at their home, at Indianapolis, Ind., where she passed away. Deceased was only twenty-three years old, but had held prominent distinction in theatrical circles. Last season she played the leading soubrette with "The Castaways," under the management of her husband. She was married to Manager Lewis at Roanoke, Va., Dec. 18 last, while playing in that city. Her sudden death was a severe blow to her young husband and her father and brothers. She was interred in the Crown Hill Cemetery, Indianapolis, July 6.

EDWARD ST. CLAIR GIBBONS, manager of the Opera House, Shenandoah, Pa., and well known in theatrical circles throughout the country, upon returning home July 7, fell down the cellar steps and fractured his skull. A stair door and cellar door adjoin, and in the dark he opened the latter, falling headlong to the cemented floor below. He died a few hours later.

AGNES TRETHEWEY (Lillie Elliott), song and dance performer, died June 24, of consumption of the bowels, at Annie Petrie's home, Fort Worth, Tex. She leaves a daughter three and a half years old.

Maggie Olivier, for many years a favorite Australian soubrette and burlesque actress, died at Mebourne May 14. Miss Oliver made her first appearance as Margery in "The Rough Diamond." This, and Nan the Good for Nothing, were regarded as her best roles, and her Paddy Miles ("Limerick Boy") and Sheelah ("Colleen Bawn!") were two of her many Irish characters. As a burlesque boy, with her comely figure, happy face, clear enunciation and clever dancing, she was for many years simply inimitable. Miss Oliver was born at Sydney, in 1848.

THE NEWEST PLAYS.

"Puritania."

This romantic comic opera, the libretto by Charles M. S. McLellan, and the music by Edgar Stillman Kelley, was sung for the first time on any stage June 6, at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, Mass., by Pauline Hail and her company. In the cast were Louise Beaudet, John E. Brand, Edith Sinclair, Ed. M. Favor, Arthur Ryley, Frederic Solomon and others. The costumes, designed by De Grim, were historically correct. "Puritania" is founded upon the story of Salem witchcraft. Elizabeth, the Salem beauty, wielded a most mysterious power over the community in which she lived. As every one fell desperately in love with her, while she remained untouched by a responsive passion, it was at last generally decided that she must be a witch, and, accordingly, she is put under arrest, and forced to appear to answer the terrible charge of being a sorceress. Soon after the rise of the curtain, Elizabeth is led before the judges and makes her denial. Having naively argued to show that her weird influence is nothing more than the magnetic power of innocence and lovely girlhood, Elizabeth throws herself upon the mercy of the court. Abegail, the heavy woman hater of the neighborhood, steps forward and denounces the young witch in vigorous terms, at the same time asserting that the court itself is under the beauty's spell. Thereupon, Elizabeth, who is a girl of considerable spirit, becomes weary of the proceedings, and boldly confesses that she is indeed a witch. She makes men love her, she says. That is witchcraft. Any woman in the village would say she deserved death. She is ready. The crowd accepts her confession, and closes in upon her, threat ening immediate vengeance. There is a serious, high wrought chorus, which, when it reaches its highest pitch, is interrupted by the boom of a cannon, coming from the direction of Salem Harbor. This heralds the arrival of one of his Majesty's ships of war from England, with the Earl of Barrenlands aboard. He espouses Elizabeth's cause, and, of course, eventually marries her.

"The Family Circle."

This three act farce, Americanized by Sydney Rosenfeld from the French of Alexandre Bisson, was done for the first time in English on any stage, May 30 last, at the Columbia Theatre, Boston, Mass., by a Charles Frohman company, thus cast: Jack Brainerd, Charles B. Welles; Hudson Lorrimer, Brainerd, Charles B. Wellies; Hudson Lorrimer, Frederick Bond; Clara Lorrimer, Kate Blanchard-Rankin; Valentine, Evelyn Campbell; Jasper Quigley, Joseph Humphreys; Tom, Henry Miller; Dr. Choate, Joseph Allen; Betsy, Margaret Robinson; Mrs. Winnegan, May Robson; Vic, Pixie Rankin. A careful merchant rejoices in wedding his daughter to a prosperous young widower, when papa's partner interferes, wishing the girl for his son. The bridegroom "has a past," which is somehow twisted into a story that he murdered his first wife in jealousy, and the situation becomes hot when his new wife innocently receives letters meant for her young friend Betsy, who is determined she will not be the mother (stepmother) of her young man, but only his wife. The fun grows tunnier when it appears that the old meddier and both the other fathers have a past. By this new complication the maligned bridegroom is exculpated. The Newport scene is excellent, with its outlook upon the ocean.

"Her Ladyship."

This three act comedy, by H. Grattan Donnelly, was produced for the first time on any stage May 12, This three act comedy, by H. Grattan Donnelly, was produced for the first time on any stage May 12, at the Academy of Music, Newburg, N. Y. The scenes are laid at Newport and Washington. John Fremont aspires to be United States Senator. Jackson Braise, a member of Congress, undertakes to secure the nomination for him, but, in secret, Mr. Braise is working for himself. They meet at Newport. Lady Victoria Hastings, a daughter of the Earl of Cloverdale, is staying with Mrs. Chopne at that resort. Set takes so lively an interest in Fremont's future that she becomes the means of revealing Braise's treachery. Fremont wishes the first that the second stay in the contest, but Lady but and the second stay in the contest, but Lady but and the second stay the torical and Boomer reply with energy redoubled, and Fremont is nominated by acclamation. Lady Victoria gives her hand to the victorious Fremont. The cast: John Fremont. Malter S. Craven Hon, Jackson Braise. Odell Williams General Archibaid Bluff. W. B. Arnold Jefferson Boomer. Charles Bowser Captain Jack Spencer. Francis Nellson Lieutenant Frank Stockton. E. J. Morgan Armand, Count de Tourville. Frank Butler Mrs. De Silver Coyne. Mary Timberman Helsna Coyne. Zenaide Visiaire Mrs. General Bluff. Annel Halnes Mrs. General Bluff. Annel Halnes Mrs. General Bluff. Annel Halnes Mrs. General Bluff. Phillipse."

"Mary Phillipse."

At the Yonkers, N. Y., Music Hall June 30, "Mary Phillipse," a historical and musical piece in four acts—the libretto by W. G. V. T. Sutphen and the music by George F. Le Jeune—was performed for music by George F. Le Jeune—was performed for the first time on any stage, amateurs appearing in the cast. The work shows marks of hasty construction. It was put together in six weeks on the order of Theodore Gilman, a wealthy Yonkers resident, and the librettist had to incorporate too many different events in his book to bring out a connected story. He falled principally in providing live finales to the four scenes. Most of the dialogue is bright, and the versification is clever throughout. M. Le Jeune's music is harmonious, tuneful and cleverly orchestrated. The plot is founded on historical events at Yonkers between 1760 and 1766, and George Washington is one of the characters.

The Henley Regatta.

The annual regatta at Henley-on the Thames, Eng., was held last week. The elections had a bad effect on the attendance, which was very much smaller than usual, especially on the closing day smaller than usual, especially on the closing day, July 7, when the final, and, presumably, the most interesting heats in the different events were contested. The winners, which is all that the cable dispatches furnish, were as follow: Ladies' Plate-First Trinity crew, Cambridge University. Stewards' Cup—Royal Chester Club. Diamond Sculls—Oems, a sculler from Amsterdam, Germany. Thames Cup—The Jesus College crew, Oxford. The Visitors' Cup—The Trinity crew, of Cambridge.

Boston's Sailing Regatta.

Boston's Sailing Regatta.

Something of a gale was blowing when the annual salling regatta was started off City Point, Boston, Mass., July 4, which accounts for so many of the boats withdrawing from the race. None of the boats spread any more canvas than was absolutely necessary. The proparatory signal for the first and second classes was given at 9.55 a. M. and five minutes later the yachts in these classes were sent off over the following course: From the judges' steamer down west way, leaving Thompson and Bainsford Islands on the starboard. Long and George's Islands and Point Allerton Buoy No. 3 on the port, and back through the Narrows, leaving Fort Warren, Galloupe's Island and Nix's Mate Bell Buoy on the port, Buoy No. 6, Lower middle on the port, Buoy No. 6, Lower middle on the port, Buoy f, Castle Island on the port, to flagboat anchored off the Marine Park pler, leaving it on the port, passing between the judges steamer and the flagboat. Distance, thirteen miles.

The first boat to cross the line was the Violet, closely followed by the Eva, the others crossing in the following order: Handsel, Quissette, Swordish, Climax, Wasp, Nimbus, Ione and Minnie R. They had a free wind down the west way, and they made fast time in the strong breeze, with booms wide off to starboard. Owing to the speed of the Nimbus and Violet, the race in the first class centreboards soon dwindled down to a contest between these two crack yachts, in which the former only defeated the latter by 28s., actual time. The Handsel was the only starter in the first class keels, but she made the centreboards in her class look very weary, as she beat them by over 26m., actual time. The only boats that finished in the second class keels, the Swordish and Ione, but, according to the time the former arrived, it is a question as to whether she went over the proper course. The race of the day was the contest between the jib and mainsail boats. The course for the third and fourth classes, was as follows: From starting line, leaving Old Harbor Buo

Racing Off Marblehead.

Racing Off Marblehead.

The Corinthian Yacht Club held its sixtieth annual regatts off the club house at Marblehead, Mass., July 4. There was a strong breeze, and all the yachts were obliged to put in reefs. There were no starters in the first and second classes, but in the third class, 21ft, keels, there were four starters, the Reaper, Strocco, Koorili and Freak. They salled over a ten mile course from the starting line to Pig Eack show, thence to Halfway Eock and to salled over a fen mile course from the starting line to Pig Rocks buoy, thence to Halfway Rock and to fluish line. At 11.40 the start was made, the Freak crossing the line first, closely followed by the Koorill, with the Reaper and Strocco bringing up the rear. They were all under reefed mainsails. The Reaper passed the Freak soon after the start, as did the Kooril and Strocco. The Freak, however, managed to work herself into second place on the reach to Fig Rocks and rounded about two minutes astern the Reaper and about ten seconds ahead of the Strocco, which was fully a minute ahead of the Kooril. The yachts, after rounding Fig Rocks, stood away for Halfway Rock, with wind nearly abeain. The Reaper was the only sacht to increase her lead on this leg, the other yachts holding about the same position. The Freak was obliged to withdraw on account of getting a lobster pot caught in her fin. The Reaper also got tangled up in lobster gear and buoys, but was not so bad off as the Freak. The Strocco made the best time on the beat home and did some fine sailing, but she could not overcome the Reaper's heavy lead, and the latter won by a little over seven minutes.

The signal was given for the handicap cruising

Boston's City Regatta.

There was a time when the regatta annually held on the Charles River, Boston, Mass., for cash and other prizes offered by the patriotic city fathers, not only constituted the chief sporting feature of the celebration of the nation's birthday at the Hub, but was likewise one of the leading annual fixtures on the boating calendar in America, both amateur and professional. That was years ago, when it was went to attract all the more prominent scullers and crews of the country, including all the champions. The increase in the number of clubs, together with the numerous regartas held in different parts of the country, accounts for the marked falling off in importance of the regartas that have taken place on the time honored river during the past dozen years. This year the regartas was postponed from the Fourth of July, on account of rough water, till Saturday, July 9. It attracted a crowd of about ten thousand persons, but, although the different events were fairly well contested, they were of simply local interest. A summary follows:

Professional simple scull ruce, three miles, with a turn—william O'Connor, champion America, first, in 2bn, william o'Connor, champion America, first, in 2bn, and and George flosmer, who is ready for the engagement, as recently made known in these columns.

Birge race, twelve oared crews, two miles, with turn—West End Boat Club first, in 16m; its, Latayette Boat Club second, handlig beaten.

Local scullers' race, three miles, with turn—J. J. Casey first, the race being so easy a thing for him that the timekeepers did not think it worth while to make any return. Daniel J. Murphy was second and fat bonevan third, the latter couple rowing an interesting and close race for second place, although never being in the hunt.

Eight courte was likewise one of the leading annual fixtures on the boating calendar in America, both amateur and

THE NEW BOAT HOUSE just finished for the Manhattan Athletic Club, and which had been built at a cost of $5,000 to replace the less commodious old house belonging to the club, broke loose from its moorings at One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Street and Harlem River during Saturday night, July 9—a fact that was discovered about four o'clore's Sunday morning, when it was found adrift and parity submerged. The janitor secured a tug and managed to tow the overturned structure to the shore, The cost of raising and remooring will amount to probably $500. During Saturday carpets had been put down and some of the furniture placed.

STATEN ISLAND YACHTSMEN.—The first club regatts of the Staten Island Yacht Club was held 9 over the club course in the upper and lower bays, but they had the misfortune of having light winds. Only six of the eleven entries started in the two classes, as follow: M. Taylor Jr.'s Sterling and T. J. Hooley's Ida, in the sloop class, and W. H. Luditun's Amy, N. E. Horn's Try Again, John Sandford Jr.'s Mamie S. and Capt. Niel Nielson's Nondescript. Only two finished. Try Again made the best actual time—2h. 35m. 20s.—but Mamie S. won by 57s. on her time allowance.

BILLIARDS.

Jacob Schaffer arrived in Paris on June 26. He representing Vignaux and Garnier. These parties secured a tug, and met the steamer out in the channel, thus getting ahead of the manager of the Folies Bergere Theatre, who was waiting for the steamer to land at the quay, in order to make a contract with Schaefer. Schaefer thus becomes the leading star of the Vignaux Academie. On June 27, In a game of 306 points up. Schaefer was defeated by Prot by a score of 309 to 152. J. P., Stottville.—The player who approaches nearest to thirty-one during the play of the hand is entitled to mark one for the go or last card, but if he reaches thirty-one exactly, he marks two instead of one. This will explain why the player pegs only two points when he makes thirty-one without a pair or run, either with his last card, or with the last card.

Baseball, Cricket, Etc.

Baseball, Cricket, Etc.

K. H., Albany.—1. The Cincinnati Reds, under Harry Wright's management, went through the season of 186 without losing a game. 2. The Cincinnati team, including Brainard, pitcher; Allison, catcher; Gould, Sweasy and Waterman, on the bases; George Wright, short stop; and Leonard, Harry Wright and McVey in the outfield, played fifty-seven games that season, all of which were won with the exception of one at Cincinnati, with the Haymakers, of Lansingburgh, N. Y., when the score stood a tie, 17 to 17. Besides the regular games the Cincinnatis siaso played six with picked nines. 3. See Ring answers.

N. W.—The bet is a draw, in consequence of the failure to specify the morning or afternoon contest, two games being regularly scheduled for that day by all the clubs of the National League and American Association. When a postponed game is played off on the same afternoon, bets are decided by the result of the second game, that being generally considered to be the regular or scheduled contest.

L. E. E.—The bet should be drawn according to the final ruling of the National League and American Association. Bets, however, are generally decided by the umpire's decision, without waiting the result of a protest and subsequent reversal.

W. W., Philadelphis.—The international cricket match between representative elevens of the United States and Canada is to be played Sept. 16 and 17 at Philadelphia. The date, however, may be changed, as the final contest between the East and the West has been arranged for the same days.

J. P. H., Kansas City. John L. Sullivan and Mike McCoole (who once fought the late Joe Coburn for the championship of America) never met in a sparring bout anywhere.

S. G. Washington.—The prize fight between John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain, for the championship of the world and $20,000, took place at Richburg, Miss., July 8, 1889, and was fought according to the regular rules, with bare knuckies. Sullivan was the winner, the number of rounds being seventy-five and the time of the battle 2h. 16m. 23s. Fighting with the bare luns is vastly different from boxing with four ounce gloves, which latter contests are governed by the Queensberry code, which makes the round limit three minutes.

K. H., Albany.—Charley Mitchell knocked John L. Sullivan down during the first round of their glove contest at Madison Square Garden, this city. It was a blow delivered when Sullivan had his feet too close together, and brought him to his seat. He was up in an instant, and afterwards repeatedly knocked the Englishman down, once sending him to the floor, outside of the platform. It was in the third round that Captain Williams stopped the contest, seeing that Mitchell had no show with Sullivan. Paddy Ryan never knocked Sullivan down, either at the garden or in their fight at Mississippi City, or subsequently in the glove contest between them at San Francisco, Cal.

CHESS.

THE ITALIAN CONGRESS -Bro Seguin rightly says that "Italian chess news travels slowly." The sixth national chess congress was held at Turin, commencing on April 30, ult., and we are just now in recept, via La April 30, ult., and we are just now in recept, via La Strategie, of the names of the four prize winners in the major tourney, there having been six entrants. The first prize was won by Dr. V. Torre, of Turin. This victory carried with it a magnificent clock, elegantly ornamented, a special gift from King Hubert. Second, Count B. Vergani, of Montebelluma; third, Count D'Orfengo; and fourth, Gn. Sackers, both of Turin. We presume that it was a disappointment that Signor Fermo Zannoni, of Padua, of whom such high hopes were raised a few years ago, was not in the lists.

THE HANDICAP at the Divan is completed, the winners being-First, F. J. Lee; second, J. P. Mollard; third, R. Loman; fourth, H. E. Bird, A. Maass and R. Zelchmann, ex equio. The Field speaks particularly well of Mr. Mollard, of the So. Norwood C. C.

ONE OF THOSE unwelcome visitations which sometimes intrude upon all chess editors has befallen Bro. Preti in La Stratepie. "That terricle demolisher of suimates, M. A. Demochy, sent a six move solution from i. P. to Kt 7; and alterwards one in four moves to M. Pradignat's ten mover to which 3ro. P. had given the post of honor in May, and which we copied. I. R. to Q B 7. Our contributor, R. H. Rice, sent the ten move solution, pronouncing it "a delicious problem."

CHESS IN ADELAIDE.—As far as we know, the A. C. Chas made a new departure, or retinement, in handicapping its first class players for the present tourney it was matter for warm and general congratulative that Bro Charlick, after several years absence, again appeared in the list. He alone was made class it a while the other first class men were made band. The imposed on Bro. C. the arduous task of giving P amove, and Pawn and two, to several highly accomplished players—with what result we do not yet know.

TRIANGULAR MATCH.—The English players having tried Herr Lasker in tournaments, single handed and quintangular matches, and been uniformly beaten, Mr. Blackburne and Herr dunaberg are now going to contest a triangular tourney with him. As is well known, Messra Blackburne and dunsberg have long had a good deal of talk, off and on, about a match. The Belfast (fre.) C. Groposed to them to play in its rooms, and they assented. Then the additional proposition was made to take Lasker into copartnership, and this also proving agreeable the contest is slated to open during the first week in September next. This arrangement will deservedly command wide attention.

New York and Chicago are two of the best cities in the Naand Chicago are two of the best cities in the National League and American Association, but have they been helped any? Who ever heard of Chicago getting a man! Anson had to get out and hustie for everybody he has got, and the best men he developed are playing in other clubs. A good strong team in New York would help baseball more than winners in Baltimore, Louisville, and all the rest of the tail end cities. They are good ball towns for the first few weeks in April. That is their limit. I'd like to see the New Yorks fighting away upon the race, for with the cranks in the metropolis crazy the pulse of the national game everywhere is strengthened."

A postponed game between the Staten Island Cricket Club's nine and the New Jersey Athletic Club's team was played July 6 at Bergen Point, N. J. The home team shut out their opponents and won by a score of 3 to 0. Westervelt pitched for the New Jersey team, and held the visitors down to a solitary safe hit, which was made in the last inning. Tyng pitched well for the Staten Island team, only six scattering safe hits being made of him.

six scattering safe hits being made off him.

John G. Clarkson, the once famous pitcher, who was recently released by the Boston Club, signed a contract with the Cleveland Club July 5. It will be necessary to release one of the other pitchers, and Davies will probably be released to make room for Clarkson. President Robertson, of the Cleveland Club, believes that Clarkson can pitch winning ball
if placed among new surroundings.

The Minneapolis and Indianapolis teams of the Western League played July 6, at Minneapolis, the runs by Graham won the game for the Minneapolis team.

The Cincinatti and Boston teams at one time con-The Cincinatti and Boston teams at one time contemplated playing off their fourteen inning tie game on the Fourth of July, thus making three games, but they finally decided that two were enough. A Cincinnati exchange says: "The attendance at the two Cincinnati-Boston games was the greatest Fourth of July crowd in the history of the Cincinnati Club. Over 20,000 people saw the two games. Boston's share of the receipts was the largest that has been paid any visiting team by any club. After deducting the 12½ per cent. of the gross receipts which goes to the sinking fund of the National League and American Association, there was still left for Boston's share enough to pay the salaries of the team for a whole month."

of the team for a whole month."

The Oxford team of Philadelphia, played their fourth game with the Camden Club, July 6, at Camden, N. J., and it resulted in favor of the visitors by 10 to 5. Top pitched for the Camden team, and was batted only by Catcher Sugden, who secured four hits, one of which was a home run, of the six credited to the Oxfords. In the fourth inning, with three men on bases, Davis knocked out a nome run.

An exciting finish marked the game between the Crescent team of Plainfield, N. J., and the Staten Island Athletic Club's nine July 6, at Staten Island. The score stood 7 to 1 in favor of the Crescent team, when the home team commenced their last half of the ninth inning, but by hard hitting the latter made seven runs, six of which earned, and secured a victory. Two men were out when the winning run was scored. Meakin and Fuch were the pitchers. During the last inning several of the spectators, adherents of the visiting club, became boisterous, and Manager Moore had them put out of the ground amid much excitement.

F. De H. Robison, of the Cleveland Club, who se cured the franchise of the Western League for his Fort Wayne team, taking the place of the disbanded St. Paul Club, has turned the franchise over to the Western League. At present the players are running the team on the co-operative plan. Mr. Robison's month's experience with the Fort Wayne team is said to have cost $1,800.

Before the commencement of the game July 5 at Cleveland, Manager Hanlon, of the visiting Baltimore team, suspended Curtis Welch, the centre fielder of his nine, and sent him to Baltimore for disregarding several of the club rules. The breach of discipline is said to have occurred in Pittsburg.

John H. Roche, a well known baseball reporter of Washington, who is traveling with the professional team of that city, was married July 5, at Allegheny. The bride also halls from Washington. George Wagner, of the Washington Club, was the best man. John McQuald, who was recently appointed on the staff of the National League and American Asso-ciation, umpired his first game this season July 4, at St. Louis.

at St. Louis.

Ten home runs were made in the championship games of the National League and American Association on the Fourth of July, four being made at Pittsburg, where the only one credited to the Baltimore team was the result of the rare feat of hitting by Halligan over the right field fence. Tiernan, of the New York team, had alone previously performed this feat.

It is claimed that the Pittsburg Club has paid out more than twice as much money to visiting clubs as it has received away from home.

more than twice as much money to visiting clubs as it has received away from home.

Capiain Anson, of the Chicago Club, will favor Sunday bail in Chicago next season, on account of the Columbian Fair in that city, at least so it is said in an official way. The Chicago people are at present looking for another bail ground.

Daley, who is now pitching for the Buffalo Club, held the Providence team down to five scattering scratch singles July 5, although the same team had batted him out of the box on the preceding day. On the latter date he twice had three men on bases, and then struck out three in succession, leaving the bases filled. Daley retired the last one above mentioned on three successive bails pitched, Farrar, formerly of the Philadelphias, being the victim.

The Chicago Club has made a draft upon the Joliet Club, of the Illinois-lowa League, for the services of Decker and Conners. According to the rules, Chicago must pay Joliet $500 each for the drafted men. Conners has a batting average of over 300, and stands high in fielding. Decker is a first baseman and a hard hitter.

Curious concidences of the two games between man and a hard hitter.

Curious coincidences of the two games between the Philadelphia and Cincinnati Clubs July 5 and 6, at Cincinnati, were that the former on each occasion obtained a winning lead by bunching their hits in the first inning, being also aided each time by an error by Latham, and that Hamilton in each contest by a remarkable catch prevented the home team from making a successful rally at the bat. In these two games, Genins, who was playing as substitute for George Smith, accepted all of the sixteen chances offered him at short stop. On July 7, Hamilton by another wonderful catch asved the Philadelphias in the ninth inning from being defeated at Pittsburg.

Ten innings were necessary in the Louisville-New York and St. Louis-Boston games July 6, and in the St. Louis-New York game July 7. The St. Louis won once, while the New Yorks won twice in the extra inning contests.

Considerable complaint has been found with the unpiring of Mitchell, who halls from Pittsburg, and has recently officiated in the championship games played in that city. President Young was a spectator at the Philadelphia-Pittsburg game July 8, and it is said that he was there to watch the work of Umpire Mitchell. He had four close decisions in that game, all of which he gave in favor of the home team, helping them to two of their four runs.

Whittier's terms have been east. whistier's terms have been accepted by the Louisville Club, and he will play right field for its team, California, will take Taylor's piace at first base.

Acting Manager Walz, of the Baltimore Club, received advices July 8 that Sutcliffe had been engaged to catch for the Baltimore team.

The Camden Club visited Chester, Pa., July 5, and defeated the local team by a score of 11 to 1.

The Western League held a meeting July 7, at Chicago, and decided to continue with six clubs. Barnie, of Fort Wayne, got the Minneapolis franchise, Hach unconditionally withdrawing and surrendering his players, grounds, good will and everything appertaining. The six clubs which will play out the season are Columbus, Toledo, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Omaha and Indianapolis. Fort Wayne voluntarily drops out, and its players, with those of Milwaukee, will be distributed among the other clubs. A new schedule of seventy games was adopted, on a basis of $65 guarantee instead of $100 as heretofore. The Western League adopted the policy of protecting itself from the major organization by the payment of $1,200; provided, however, for the signing of Western players by clubs of the National League and American Association up to August 1, upon payment of $1,000 release money.

A dispatch from St. Louis dated July 8 says: "Von Der Ahe cut the saisries today. The men protested mildly, but all accepted except Buckley, Gleason, Glasscock and Crooks. They asked till tomorrow to consider. Pitcher Galvin and Von Der Ahe disagreed over a matter of discipline and the former was given his unconditional release. Von Der Ahe hopes to sign O'Rourke, third baseman of Columbus; Clausen, pitcher of Columbus, and Phillips, a pitcher from the Southern League. It looks as if he will release Pinkney, Moran and Getzein. Von Der Ahe received a telegram from Kansas City tonight that the Western League is as good as disbanded."

George A. Decker, first baseman, and James Connors, second baseman, of the Joliets, in the Illinois-lowa League, who were drafted by President Hart, have signed with the Chicago Club. Under the provisions of the national agreement Chicago will pay Joliet $1,000 for the release of the two men. Sanger Steele, of Joliet, ex-president of the Illinois Iowa League, recommended the players to Anson. Decker played with the Los Angeles Club in 1888, and finished the season of '88 with the Aspen (Col.) team. He led the team and the Colorado League in batting and fielding. In 1890 he played in Dubuque, Iowa, and for two years has played in Joliet. His batting average in 1891 was 304, and his fielding, 985. Connors played with the Manchesters, of the New England League, last year.

The Milwankee Club, of the Western League, dis-

The Milwankee Club, of the Western League, disbanded July 6. Manager Hanlon, of the Baltimores, has engaged Pifcher Ferson and Second Baseman Ward. Third Baseman Roat was secured by Chicago for next season at $1,500. All the other Milwankee players have offers from Southern League teams and will probably accept.

Manager Powers announced July 8 that Third Baseman Parrott and Centre Fielder Newman, of the Minneapolis team, had signed with the New Yorks. They were only too glad to get an opportunity. Both men are good fielders and batters, and Umpire McQuaid particularly recommended them.

and Umpire McQuaid particularly recommended them.

President Vonderhorst, of the Baltimore Club, received a dispatch from Manager Hanlon, July 8, stating that Stovey, the ex-Boston outfielder, would join the Baltimore Club in time for the opening of the second championship season, July 15. Manager Hanlon is now on a tour through the Western League in search of players.

In the Brooklyn-Chicago championship contest July 6, each team made six safe hits, three of which were bunched in the second inning.

Capt. Anson, of the Chicago Club, denies that there was any truth in the report that he was to retire from active playing and devote his time to the management of the club. The fact that the club had signed First Baseman Decker, of the Juliet Club, had caused such a rumor. A radical change will be made in the composition of the team. Cooney and Canovan will go on the bench. Dahlen will play shortstop, Decker go to right, Connor to second base, and Parrott, who was secured from the disbanded Minneapolls Club, will cover third base. Chicago has also signed Root, of the Milwaukees, the hardest hitter in the Western League.

The St. John's College team, of this city, has a very creditable record, having played thirty-five games this season, winning twenty-five, losing nine and one was a tie. They shut out three of the nine and one was a tie. They shut out three or the opposing teams, and the St. John's team suffered the same thing at the hands of the University of Vermont and Bridgeport teams. Carmody, Smith and Roach were the plichers, but next season they will be without the services of Carmody. Sullivan led in batting, his percentage for thirty-three games being .377. His long hits included five home runs, three triples and no fewer than ten double baggers. It is said that the New York and Cincinnati Clubs

It is said that the New York and Cincinnati Clubs have a deal for the exchange of King and Doyle for Mullane and Harrington. In a game played July 9 at Berwick, Pa., Jayne, pitching for the home nine, shut out the visiting Ashley team without a solitary safe hit, and struck out no fewer than eighteen. The final figures were 6 to 0 in favor of the Berwick Club.

Fred Corey, formerly of the Athletic Club, of Philadelphia, was tendered a benefit in that city July 9, when nearly one thousand people witnessed a six inning game between picked nines. A majority of the professionals who promised to take part failed to appear. Corey lost the sight of one eye by an accident while hunting several years ago, and was compelled to retire from the diamond.

ompelled to retire from the diamond.

The Tioga team of Philadelphia visited Cape May, N. J., July 9, and met with a decisive defeat. The visitors were shut out making only a scratch hit off Reese, who was perfectly supported. The final figures were 23 to 0 in favor of the home team. Schoff led in batting for the Cape May team, making a double bagger and three singles. The home team made twenty runs in three innings during the latter part of the contest.

Tom Esterbrook, the well known professional, who has been playing lately with the Bensonhurst Athletic Club, met with an accident in a game against the Brighton Club July 9, at Bensonhurst. While scoring what proved to be the winning run, Esterbrook came into collision at the plate with the catcher of the opposing nine, Donaldson, and broke his left arm. The accident is likely to disable him for some time.

The Stean Labord Athletic Club was with its first.

The Staten Island Athletic Club met with its first defeat in the championship series of the Amaleur League on July 9, at Bergen Point, N. J., the New Jersey Athletic Club nine then winning by a score of 3 to 2. On the same day the Staten Island Cricket Club's nine scored its first victory in the series, defeating the Englewood nine by 10 to 3.

The Senator and Allerton teams played the final game for the semi-professional championship of this city July 10, at the Long island grounds. The Sen-ators won by timely hitting, the final figures being 12 to 6, although the base hits were 13 to 10 in favor of the Allertons. Turner, of the Allertons, made four safe hits, including a double bagger.

The Brooklyn team, during the week ending July 9, made a record which has never been equaled. They then played away from home ten championship games, of which they won no fewer than nine, the most ever won by any club in a single week. What makes this record all the more remarkable is, that Manager Ward's team traveled upwards of three thousand miles, and spent four nights in sleeping cars.

Smith was unable to play on account of sickness, and Genins who took his place as short stop, then made his first appearance with the home team. A wild throw by Latham saved Hamilton an out at the start, and after the side should have been retired, four safe hits, including a home run by Allen, helped the visitors to five unearned runs and the victory. The home team falled to make a hit or a run off Weyhing up to the seventh inning, when three singles brought in a like number of runs. Hamilton made several clever catches at left field, twice retiring the side by cutting off hits seemingly safe for home runs. Genins did good work at short stop, where he accepted all of seven chances.

Chicago vs. Washington.

The sixth game between these clubs was played July 7, at Chicago, the Washington team then securing their first victory of the series. Duryes held the home team down to four singles, which were distributed through as many innings, and failed to bring in a run. Gumbert did good work in the box up to the eighth inning, when the visitors bunched three singles and earned a run. Both teams fielded finely, the only error being a wild throw by Schriver to third, that let in a run in the seventh inning. Duffee did the best batting, making three successive safe hits. Schriver's catching was the fielding feature.

Young was batted in a lively manner in four different innings, the Brooklyns then making eleven safe hits. He then gave way to Cuppy, but the change was too late. Stein, although batted freely, managed to hold the hits well scattered, except in the third and ninth innings. Childs and McKean each made three safe hits, the former's including a triple. Brouthers also got a triple bagger, it being the longest hit that has been made inside the local grounds this season. A remarkable running one handed stop by Ward was the fielding feature. Cincinnati vs. New York. The New Yorks sustained two defeats July 9, at Cincinnati, a postponed game being then played off. Superior fielding and timely batting helped the home team to win the first game. Rusie was batted hard in three innings, the Cincinnatis then bunching ten safe hits, including a home run by O'Nell. Comiskey did the best batting, his four safe hits, including two-triple baggers. The New Yorks batted Dwyer freely in three innings, but three brilliant plays spoiled their chances for run getting. Rusie led off in the seventh inning with his third successive hit, but was forced out by Tiernan, who by bold base running, saved the New Yorks from being shut out. The Championship Record.

The first half of the championship season ends July 13. We give below the record to July 11, inclusive, from which it will be seen that the Boston team wins the pennant. The Brooklyns made a remarkable record of victories during the past week, and will finish a good second. The Philadelphias still hold third place, but are being followed closely by the Cincinnatia. The Cleveland and Pittaburg teams hold fifth and sixth places. The Washingtons have exchanged places with the Chicagos since our last issue, while the New York, St. Louis, Louisville and Baltimore teams still bring up the rear.

schedule for the second championship season will be arranged.

A dispatch from Cincinnati, dated July 11, says: "There has been a shaking up in the New York team. O'Rourke has been replaced in left field by Newman, an outfielder formerly with the Minneapoils Club. Manager Powers is fixing his team for the second division fight, and today he made the announcement: 'We will commence the new campaign against Pittsburg next Friday, with Jack Doyle at second. Lyons, who has been hobbling along for weeks with a stone bruise on his heel, is well enough to get back on third. Fuller, who sprained his back at Harrisburg, will resume his place at short. I signed Newman, the new left fielder, on recommendation of Charley Morton. He was a hard hitter in the Western League, and Chicago and Louisville both wanted him. Harry Lyons will remain in centre, for Gore's days as a New Yorker are over. O'Rourke will go behind the bat regularly to help Boyle out. Tiernan remains in right. Burke has played well for us, but his throwing aim seems bad, and for that reason he will have to go. There is no truth in the talk about a trade of King and Boyle for Mullane and Harrington.'" usual ten days' notice of his release by Harry Wright, manager of the Philadelphia Club. On what grounds the club has decided to dispense with Keefe's services is not known. It is rumored that Harry Wright has picked up the axe and is cutting salaries in twain. Hamilton states that this is his last year on the ball field.

When the Bostons appeared on the field at Chicago July 11 they were clad in calleo and gingham suits of loud pattern and color, and sporting false beards. Anson, of the Chicago Club, last year set this bad example of burlesquing baseball.

THE RING.

Ned James' Condition. In a former issue we announced the fact that the veteran sporting writer, Ned James, for many years veteran sporting writer, Ned James, for many years connected with this journal, was in a serious condition of health, his trouble being nervous prostration, from which he suffered severely for several weeks, the affliction compeling him to give up the business of dealer in sporting goods, etc., which he had carried on at the Clipper Bubding since partial blindness incapacitated him from writing. Within the past few days his maindy has become worse. Up till July 3 he was perfectly rational, but the noise incidental to the celebration of the Fourth had a very bad effect upon his extremely nervous and sensitive till July 3 he was perfectly rational, but the noise incidental to the celebration of the Fourth had a very bad effect upon his extremely nervous and sensitive system. He suffered from the hallucination that attempts were constantly being made to set fire to the house in which he resided, and at times he was delirious and failed to recognize the members of his family. On the night of the 6th he became violent, and it required the utmost exertions of three or four persons to control him. His family then declede that his condition demanded his removal to some institution where he coald receive proper care until he recovered from his apparent temporary aberation of mind. Accordingly he was removed to Bellevue Hospital in an ambulance, in charge of Dr. A. H. Knapp, of Roosevelt Hospital, with the diagnosis of temporary insanity. When placed under treatment at that institution his condition began to improve quite speedily. He took nourishment, which he had for some time refused, under the impression that attempts were being made to poison him. On Tuesday, 12, he was removed from Bellevine to the asylum at Westport, Ct., where he will receive that care and nursing which, it is hoped, will restore him to health. He was conveyed from the hospital to the Grand Central depot in a carriage, and from there proceeded to Westport by rail.

Didn't Feel That Way.

There was a woman about indway of the car who was dressed in widow's weeds, and her mourning looked so fresh that any one could argue that she had but lately laid her husband to rest. By and by a passenger, whose white choker and sleek cut proved his profession, feit it his duty to go over to her, a Eibel in his hand, and as he sat down beside her he said:
"Madam. Lese you have you have you."

er he said:
"Madam, I see you have met with a loss?"
"Have I?" she replied, as she turned on him.
"Your husband has been laid away?"

"Your husband has been laid away?"
"Yes."
"I trust that he died happy, and in the faith?"
"Well, I don't believe he did. He wasn't one of that kind.
"Yes—ahem—yes," he stammered, greatly put ont by her replies, "you must keenly feel your loss, and in your bereavement you should turn—"
"What bereavement?" she demanded
"The death of your husband."
"See here, sir" she answered, as she turned to face him, 'my husband was about the meanest and most contemptible reptile on earth. I lived with him for five years, and he made a hell of every day.
Then I applied for a divorce and had paid the lawyer $50, when the sneak up and died and let me free but out of pocket. I've putthis mourning on to go and see his mother and settle some property matfers, and when I get back it goes into the rag bag.
Don't talk to me about bereavements. I don't feel that way."

The Riverside Pedallists.

The fact that a very much larger crowd than is usually seen at such events in the metropolis attended the annual races of the Riverside Wheelmen, held at Manhattan Field on Saturday afternoon, July o, may be accepted as conclusive evidence that the sport has gained a much stronger foothold on the general public than it ever did before in this vicinity. In fact, in previous years there has been manifest a strange lack of public interest in the performances of the leading exponents of an exercise and pastime that is at once both beneficial and pleasant. Several thousand persons, a large proportion of whom were ladies, witnessed the contests at Saturday's meeting, and did not fall to applicate the start of the second sevents that were of an interesting character. Summary:

THE AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE RIDER, Arthur Zimmerman, of the New York Athletic Club, on July 2, added another victory to his credit during his trip abroad. At the meeting of the National 'Cyclists' Union, held at the Paddington Recreation Grounds, London, Eng., he won the amateur championship of England at fifty miles. The race was a rather slow and uninteresting event, being, like most such contests, a crawling affair, albeit Zimmerman won haudily at the finish, he sprinting in fine style in the last lap and finishing twenty yards ahead, in 2b. 37m. 32%s.

F. E. SPOONER is credited in a telegram from Chicago, Ill., dated July 9, with having ridden 375 miles, less 155 yards, in a trial against the record (363 miles and a fraction), on July 8, 9. The Windy City has before this become celebrated for alleged wonderful performances, and the 'cycling public will await with interest corroboration of this reported achievement.

PUSITIVELY ONLY ACT Of Its Kind

THE WORLD. TOPSY

GEO. W. KLINE AND HIS $5,000 BAREBACK HURDLE MULE.

2 weeks in Philadelphia, 7 weeks in Chicago, 13 weeks in New York City, 5 weeks in Boston. Pronounced by press and public the most original and novel act in the world. The delight of the children, as the clown in his funny antics on the bareback mule, and the admiration of the public on his clever and captivating riding.

COPYRIGHT SECURED. IMITATORS BEWARE.

COPYRIGHT SECURED. IMITATORS BEWARE.

READ WHAT THEY SAY:

"The most original and taking act I have ever seen."—C. B. JEFFERSON.

"Great! as it delights the children and charms the public."—MARK KLAW.

"A feature strong enough to hold any audience. The only thing that made me laugh."—ABE ERLANGER.

The press of Philadelphis, New York, Chicago and Boston pronounce it the most entertaining and unique act ever seen in the circum arena. Can be engaged for a limited season by first class managers only prior to my departure for Paris. Address, Care of ELDORADO, Weehawken, Hudson County, New Jersey.

CLUBS ARE TRUMPS, AND IT IS

EVEREST'S

TURN TO LEAD ALL IN SWINGING THEM. This is not a Juggling Act, but a First Class Artistic Club Swinging Act. Stage Setting and Clubs are A No 1. Managers of First Class Theatres and Combination wishing to engage this artist, address care of CLIPPER.

DANBURY NEWS.—Prof. H. A. Everest manipulated the Indian clabs in a muner most skillful and scientific. His mastery of some of the most difficult movements is complete. A novelty that was striking in the extreme was the swinging of clubs tipped with inextinguishable torches, with the lights in the theatre turned down. The effect was unique.

DANBURY EVENING NEWS.—The entertainm opened with an iexhibition of club swinging by H Everest, of Danbury. Mr. Everest handles the club with marvelous skill and extertity, and his act which much enjoyed. He is by far the best club swinger who has appeared here.

down. The effect was unique.

P. S.—TO MANGERS OP THEATRES AND COMBINATIONS: If you want a good card that will make people talk, I would advise you to secure the above gentleman as his act is a great one. He has played for me, and proved to be an artist.

BILLY WILLIAMS.

LATE OF THE CARMENCITA CO.

EQUILIBRIST, JUCGLER, SHADOWGRAPHIST and MIMIC.

Can be engaged for season 1892-'93. Any kind of show. Vaudeville, Farce Comedy, Burlesque, Minstrel or Spectacular. Address 11 West Tweenty-sixth Street, New York, or ARMSTRONG, Agent.

THE GRAND—There was a large audience at The Grand last night. The far famed armencita drew the crowd, and unhersided John Le Clair gave the big part of the show. This was not because Carmencita was less beautiful, less bewitching, less graceful, less interesting than was anticipated, but because Le Clair was more wonderful. The star is well worth a visit to The Grand to see, but from the standpoint of dramatic interest, so far as a vaudeville show can be dramatic, Mr. John Le Clair, who opens and closes the performance, is the best.—

BRASS BANDS

DESIRING A UNIQUE NOVELTY SHOULD SEND FOR THE SALVATION ARMY MARCH,
which created such a sensation when played by CAPPA'S FAMOUS 7FR REGT. BAND at Central Park. The shouting, singing hallelujahs and beating of drums are produced with such effect as to make thir arrangement a verifiable musical pantomime. It will be the leader of all the campaign marches, and the repertory of every brass band is incomplete without it. CAPPA'S BAND ARRANGEMENT of this famous march, with all its humorous characteristic effects, will be sent to any leader upon receipt of 10c (stamps acceptable).
